highlight 3D

turn ideas into reality

Without fabric, travel, waste, and packaging.

Infinite possibilities to vary designs, change colors and shapes. With 3D, we communicate among our offices, with production partners and customers. 3D is a universal language.

the luminaries

One is the right software. The other is the right designer. There are several of them working here. Artists of the three-dimensional, bringing virtual creations to life for customers.

You come with an idea, we offer you a range of possibilities in the shortest possible time. Why? Because we never start from scratch.

A look behind the virtual scenes.

3D Clo is the asmara platform where we share our 3D styles

That means:

each of our offices has access to everything ever made by asmara and can reuse or recycle it.

We love fabrics

We develop them, source them, collect them.

Each office has a fabric library, which is constantly expanded and supplemented with new materials.

Our goal is complete sustainability.

more sustainability

We are on the way to completely climate-friendly fashion. It's a tough road.

Some of our customers are pioneers; they challenge us every day to build producers as partners who take climate protection seriously. Without compromise. Together we have to think along and work together.
