

the people

be energized

The people are the energy of asmara.
Our teams, customers, producers, and manufacturers.
We all work hard and constantly evolve.
Because we listen,
because we think along.
We add human value to everything we do.

educated

Every single employee contributes.

They can appreciate the skills of others and share ideas. This way, every asmara customer gets the best we have.

our customers

We have long relationships with many of our customers. For some, we design up to 70% of their collections.

We establish partnerships when we work deeply with a customer, listen to their needs, and find creative solutions.

our production partners

Thanks to the people who make our wishes come true.

They deserve our respect because they have joined us on the road to sustainability.

Some producers are already far ahead.

For the people on site,
this means rapid development work.

We support them wherever we can.

we care

We have always believed in giving back. We invest in development and partnerships that help us become sustainable faster.

And we support people where our offices are with our locally operated foundations.
